OUR YEAR AT FUQUAY

If you can't recall some of the experiences, whether sad or happy, which we have enjoyed at school this year, read along with us as we refresh your memory. Some of the items listed are perhaps insignificant or may seem that way, but they have been added for one purpose—to make the picture in your mind more complete.

It was the first Thursday in September, 1950, when you, along with three hundred classmates returning from summer vacations entered the high school building via the front entrance and were greeted probably by Annie Laurie Sherron, Jeanette Saunders, Doris Young, Tommy Keith, the Lane twins and a host of other friends. Inside the door, standing near the bookroom, was faithful Sara Van Hook—her eyes glued to her watch as almost mechanically she flipped the switch which officially opened the beginning of a new school year. If you were late the first day, you didn't feel so badly when your eyes caught "Speedy" Weathers trudging in tardy, too.

Then on Monday came the news which crushed each one of us. Our beloved principal would no longer be with us. It had been but four days since he had opened the new school year with chapel and although we had greeted him with an ovation befitting an emperor, it was but a minute expression of the love we really felt for him. Now, as a lasting tribute to our deceased standard-bearer, our new athletic field has been officially dedicated as Fleming Field.

With the school year and football season came a near celebrity in our midst. We refer to Billy Joe Dickens, who because of his outstanding ability to think and run with the ball, found himself featured in a statewide newspaper write-up. Helping teammate Dickens lead the team to a county championship (decided in a sloppily wet game with Garner) and an impressive trophy, was promising new star, David Smith. Perhaps it was the aroma of Buck Adcock's and Coach Council's cigars which inspired the squad to victory after victory which resulted not only in an additional trophy but also a delicious steak supper.

Initiation night was a memorable occasion for several clubs. New Beta members were sent on a scavenger hunt for impossible things and were punished with a vile-smelling mixture when they failed to return with a fishing worm or a sea shell. Future Homemakers and Future Farmers had to endure stunts like chalk rolling with the nose and cold showers.

The thrill of the year was afforded the basketball girls when they presented Mr. Weede a nylon sweater. Upon receiving it, he exclaimed repeatedly, "For me? How long did you girls have to sacrifice?"

The fad of the year was the Charleston. Almost any time you could catch Barbara Thomas, Carolyn Pritchett, and Nancy Cooke kicking their heels in an exhaustive attempt to make their feet move faster.

The laugh of the year ended in a three-way tieup. First of all, what basketball fan can't recall the night a Garner boy grabbed the ball under Fuquay's goal and before he realized it, had flipped it in for two points? Secondly, what Senior doesn't remember how Tommy Keith "elected" himself class treasurer by moving the nominations he closed when his name was the only one up for election? Last of all, what member of the graduating class has forgotten how several classmates got size confused with virtues and voted for E. B. Walters for "Best All Around" because they thought he was just that?

While Mary Alice Baker thinks appendicitis during Christmas holidays was terrible and Portia Mitchell thinks that omitting basketball from her daily routine because of a knee operation was unbearable, nearly everyone, even they, agrees that the "pain" of the year as usual came with midterm and end-of-the-year exams. Pass the aspirin!

It's all about over now. We know you have had fun, because it's all in a year at Fuquay—and what a year it's been!

The Place

"the site where memories ripened."

WHEN the first building was erected on the present site of 11 acres 34 years ago, Fuquay Springs School consisted of 7 classrooms and one auditorium. One year later when the late Mr. W. E. Fleming became the principal, he also became the only teacher for the entire high school. The total enrollment for that year was 286 pupils. Agnes Judd was the only graduate.

From this description one would hardly recognize the imposing buildings of today. In addition to the old building, which is now occupied by the grammar school, there is a high school building with an auditorium, an ultra-modern primary building with a streamlined lunchroom, a gymnasium and cannery, an agriculture workshop and home economics cottage combined, and for the faculty a handsome teacherage. As for enrollment and faculty, there have been changes also. Today there are approximately 930 students attending the school and 35 teachers (including two piano teachers) instructing them, all of whom are graduates of four year college courses or more and many of whom have been a part of the school system for several years.

From its humble beginning in 1917 to its notable position today, the aims of the school have remained unchanged. While its primary object is and has been to educate its pupils, develop social contacts, promote understanding and increase the knowledge of the arts and sciences, its inner purpose, as always, is to guide the thinking of the students in preparation for the responsibilities of citizenship, teach the ways of a democracy, and give to each person a richer meaning of the natural phases of life.

The advantages and opportunities of our school are as deserving of esteem as its purposes. For the rural students there are eight buses which are operated 180 days. Especially enjoyed by everyone is the recently completed and spacious lunchroom. Through the assistance of the Federal government, the lunchroom serves for 20¢ a hot lunch with milk to an average of 717 people each day. Nine women staff the lunchroom and enable it to meet the State Health Department standards. Proud the school is of its two libraries. The 4426 volumes they hold are classified by the Dewey Decimal System and a competent librarian supervises. In addition the two libraries are equipped with 17 tables, 90 chairs and adequate lighting facilities. They subscribe to 37 magazines and 1 newspaper.

Sanitation in the school is approved by the State Health Department. In co-operation with the Health Department a pre-school clinic is held each year for the incoming children. The health record of each student is kept in the school files.

In the 36 classrooms there are taught varied and numerous subjects. In addition to the three r's and other basic studies, the elementary pupils also have the advantages of a course in arts and crafts with a complete workshop. High school students have the privilege of selecting from:

Two foreign languages, agriculture, home economics, four types of math, geography, five sciences with lab, four social sciences, a complete commercial course, four years of English, and two hours per week of physical education.

For the entire school there is a new program of audio-visual instruction. In this department there are 2 projectors, 2 screens, several phonographs and 152 records.

It is easy to realize how a student upon completion of this work, which has been accredited by the state, is entitled to admission to any college and university within the state and many outside.

In extra-curricular activities, there is a wide range in which to participate. Aside from an effective student government and a growing band, there are also 9 active clubs, including a national scholastic honorary organization. A large part of the average student's extra-curriculum time is spent in athletics. In 1949 a new, graded athletic field equipped with bleachers and electrically-lighted was a prized addition. A championship football team has made the field a favorite place during the fall. In addition to the football team, there are also boys' and girls' basketball teams and a baseball team. Parents and teachers form their own team for extra-curricula activities in the Parent-Teachers Association. This group sponsors yearly some form of entertainment in order to raise needed money for worthwhile school projects which it undertakes.

Considering its history, purpose, size, facilities and advantages, it is no wonder that every student and teacher is proud of this educational institution and desires its continued progress and growth. May it remain as a beacon to guide the courses of other lives!

Senior Class History

It all started with a groan in September, nineteen hundred and forty-seven when in we stalked—mere adolescents, bringing with us, judging from the noise we made, our apparently uncontrollable vocal chords. However, Mrs. Elizabeth Stack and Miss Francelle Barden, as our homeroom teachers soon gave us Lesson No. 1 on voice control—or “If you don’t stop talking, I’m going to send you out.” A brief library course under Miss Southerland confirmed a fact that heretofore we had heard but had not dared to believe—We didn’t know everything!!

A year later and look at us now! Practically civilized people. Enough so, at least, that we became recognized as active Sophomore participants in school affairs. Several of us formed a Latin Club and ordered pins. Joyce Jones made the basketball team. Betty Wells, Ralph Ashworth, Charles Norris, Jo Ann Blalock and Daphne Adams represented us at meetings of the Student Council. Emma Lou Chappel was elected president of the 4-H Club. The most unforgettable assignment of the year was handed us by our English teacher, Mrs. Elton Arnold, who ordered us to compile a booklet of five chapters entitled “My Life.”

Time passed swiftly and soon we answered to the name of Juniors. The attitude of our teachers and classmates told us we were more refined and bit more nature. Our interests proved it too. Polly Stephenson enjoyed the fine arts and, as a reward of her interests, won a piano medal. Also a lover of music was Billy Stephenson, who gained recognition from every classmate as an accomplished singer when he won a rating of “excellent” in competition at Meredith College. Maynard Lloyd was elected class president about the same time Nell Adcock won the popularity contest and seventeen class members began to wear Beta pins. Invaluable to the basketball squad in winning the county championship were Jimmy Tilley, J. K. Sherron, Tommy Keith, Billy Myatt and Ronald Sherron. Nancy Kesler, Sara Van Hook, Fred Ragan and Ralph Ashworth attended Girls’ and Boys’ State respectively. Career Day, our Junior play, “Three Days of Grace,” and the operetta, “Miss Starlight,” share honors as three never-to-be-forgotten events in the eleventh grade.

At last we realized that we were Seniors. The arrival of class rings and the ordering of invitations and calling cards confirmed this fact. With Miss Lucy Perkinson and Mrs. Elizabeth Stack as homeroom teachers and Fred Ragan as class president, we felt prepared to proceed onward up this road to graduation. The football team with Nell Adcock as its sponsor and Billy Joe Dickens as its star player got the year off with the proverbial “bang” by winning for the fourth consecutive year the county championship. Rooting for the team as cheerleaders were Sara Walters, Jewel Davis, Ruby Harvell and Sara Van Hook. Outstanding in the F.F.A. were Branson Wilkerson, who was a delegate to the state convention, and Richard Smith, who won a special F.F.A. award.

Departing from the conventional plays of the past, we decided to give the costume play “Annie Laurie.” The results were most gratifying.

And now, as graduation draws near, we realize that with it will come new hopes, friends and memories, but believing that those shared at Fuquay Springs High School are the most memorable, it is not with regret that we say “Goodbye” to our dear school, but rather with gratitude for affording us four of the happiest, most carefree years of our lives.

Class Prophecy

Ah, yes, let us look in the crystal ball to the year 1961—what has become of all those wonderful Seniors who graced the halls of dear old Fuquay High ten years ago?

No, don't tell me that old E. B. Walters has actually become the body guard of the President of the United States, who is incidentally, none other than Tommy Keith himself.

Let's take a peek in the Metropolitan Opera House. Can it be true that the distinguished soprano, Valeria Shearon, is singing the lead in "Madame Butterfly?"

You wouldn't know her, but that charming lady who owns her own swank dress-making shop on Fifth Avenue is Ann Lou Mize, the seamstress of the class. Please address her as Mlle. Mize, who learned the trade in Paris. In her elaborate establishment are employed many of her old school friends, now luscious models. They are Doris Young, Jean Pritchett, Gaynelle Padgett, and Christine McGee.

Strictly a home-town girl, Joyce Smith is still in Fuquay, sitting behind the ticket window at the theater.

Too bad Estelle Oglesby got married and quit her job as air hostess for the Capital Airlines.

That zany duo of radio and television, Baker and Partin, have really gone places since '51. In that same category is Mary Frances Coley, now Hana Sable, the nation's best loved "silent" movie actress.

Naturally, because of his ability to argue with anyone, anytime, about anything, Bryon Ransdell has gained prominence as a Philadelphia lawyer.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Stephenson, celebrated pianist, is now touring Europe for the second time in her brilliant career.

One isn't enough—Donald Hicks has to have two Chevrolets to cruise around in, accompanied by his little nephew, screaming, "I like Studebakers!"

Saying "Number please" are Annie Laurie Sherron and Margie Walton. They really fooled fate by choosing this vocation.

If you would like to have your coiffure worked on, go to Lora Kinton's exquisite beauty salon. On her staff are Luzene Champion and Julia Holmes, experienced beauticians.

That radical-minded cronie Harry Stephenson now has his own radio station where he can run his mouth all day long about his beliefs.

Without a doubt Horace Moore will be a prizefighter and a real "firecracker" in the ring. Everyone remembers that he developed this ability during his high school days.

Miss Betty Sue Dark (bruises vanished) has formed a safety committee for automobile drivers. Experience is the best teacher, huh?

It was taken for granted that Cecil Abernathy would become an accomplished and efficient auditor following his Kings business course.

Peace College is still vibrating with the sound of Janet Stephenson's name. All records prove that she really buckled down to her studies, emoting the next thing to a Rhodes Scholar.

Coach Billy Thomas and his "firey five" just can't be stopped anywhere near Fuquay High. Trophies are literally cluttering up the cases, and orders for new cases are being filled.

It is regrettable that Uncle Sam sent his greetings to these promising boys before they could launch out on their careers: Bobby Wilson, Charles Roundy, Joe Currin, and Fred Fish. Poor Fred Fish was hit the hardest, having to part with his inseparable Mercury convertible.

Lindsay Puryear's fifty-acre plantation is the talk of all Willow Springs. Ambition and hard work got him where he is—the envy of every farmer in his community.

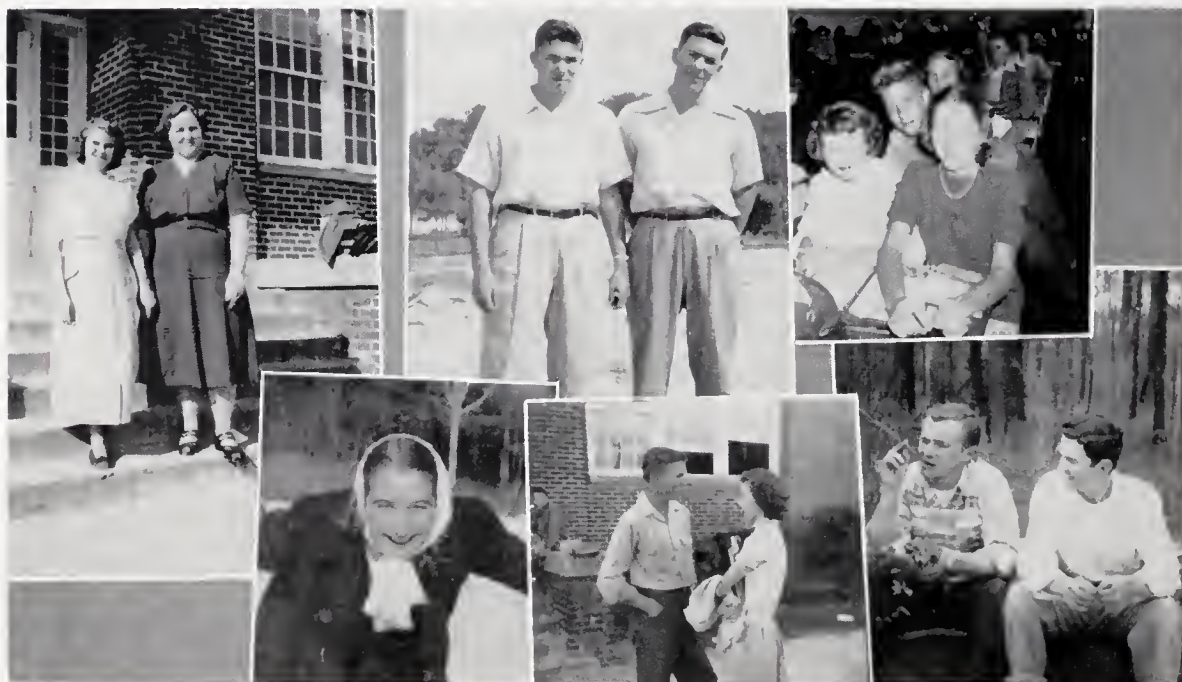

For these lucky young ladies wedding bells have tolled: Frances Lawrence, Joan Powell, Jane Hester, and Joan Dean.

This is what ten years can do to a group of people. Wonder what they'll be doing twenty years from now? Time will tell, good friends.

The Things We Did

"curricula determine the height of a person's mental development, but extra-curricula determine the breadth and depth of his understanding."

GREENBRIAR STAFF

For the better part of five months, now, we have been laboring over our yearbook—sticking together the hundreds of odds and ends which make it complete. Our work has been amusing on occasions, such as the time when only one picture out of nine came out on one of our special pages and all had to be remade; and then when the editor called an editorial staff meeting and one person came. It has also been rather exasperating, too—when unforeseen events hindered us and ideas just didn't come. But always we have somehow felt satisfied because we knew that finally we would reach the joyous and successful end of a not too difficult grind.

After attending the Press Institute at Chapel Hill, we returned confident that the best annual is the casual one in which the people are pictured in their natural environments under everyday, unposed circumstances. Furthermore, the writing of the outstanding yearbook is friendly and unaffected. Following this line of thought, we, to the best of our ability, have honestly endeavored to compile this book in just that manner. Especially have we tried to work with clubs and superlatives in that way.

We earnestly hope that these pages will recall to you a year which has affected all our lives pretty seriously and the people and places you see will not be lost from your memory.

There is not much else to say. "Time wrote the year—we have only tried to record it." If we have been successful in that, then satisfaction dwells within us.

Since its beginning in 1946, the Student Council has progressed steadily toward its goal—giving to the student body a voice in school affairs. Officers for the coming year are elected in the spring by secret ballot. In addition each home room elects one representative.

This year the Student Council sponsored the school's first homecoming game with a barbecue supper and a dance. Another successful project directed by the advisor, Miss Rageline McGranahan, was a clean-up campaign of the grounds and buildings.

The Beta Club is a national honorary organization composed of Juniors and Seniors. Because it is the object of the Beta Club to encourage scholarship, promote character and ideals, and maintain a high quality of leadership, the members are selected on the basis of leadership, character, achievement, and scholarship.

This year, following the initiation of the ten new members, the old members formally welcomed them in an impressive candlelight ceremony and installation service.

In 1950 the club, with the co-operation of the F.F.A. and Mr. Hunt, built two trophy cases in the front entrance. An additional gift of stage baskets was made to the school. This year's projects were: assisting in the principal's office; keeping the concession stand at basketball games; paying the expenses of the officers attending the state convention held in Asheville.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

The Future Homemakers Association, under the able leadership of Mrs. Ralph Jarrett, had a very successful year. Among the outstanding honors was having Betty Lou Wells, one of our chapter members, elected president of the Wake County Chapter. This chapter meets twice a year. The fall meeting, which was held at our school, was a big success. The officers for the following year are elected at the spring meeting.

When the F.H.A., in co-operation with the F.F.A., had their annual Mother-Daughter-Father-Son Banquet, five awards were given to those achieving the highest in cooking, canning, sewing, home improvement, and the most outstanding member of the year. The awards, which were Future Homemaker pins with guards and emblems, were presented respectively to Nancy Tilley, Pearl Jones, Peggy Guthrie, Betty Joe Myatt and Nell Adcock.

We celebrated the National F.H.A. Week by participating in the world-wide Christmas festival, presenting an installation service in chapel, having a square dance, attending a rally at Durham and reporting the news to the local paper. We ended it by holding an impressive church service.

Our projects for the year were: improving the rest rooms; making curtains for the cottage; hanging mirrors in the class rooms; selling greeting cards to help pay for the silver for our cottage.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The local chapter of Future Farmers of America was begun in 1928. Since that time its purpose has been to lead young farmers into a brighter future in farm life.

Last June 26, thirty boys left for White Lake for a week at camp. During this time they participated in a well-rounded program of activities.

The awards were numerous. Bobby Coats, William Stephenson, Horace Moore, Glen Powell and Branson Wilkerson won special awards in the corn contest and other boys received certificates from the 100 Bushel Club. Other awards were given to Wayland Honeycutt in public speaking, Richard Smith in the best supervised farming program, Ben Burchette for the heaviest litter of pigs, Horace Moore for best shop work and Junior Bowling in scholarship. In the summer Branson Wilkerson was a member of a trio who reached the state finals in cattle judging.

Among the social activities were square dances and the annual Father-Son and Mother-Daughter Banquet given in cooperation with the F.H.A. girls.

We Are High School Kids

WITH THE USUAL FADS AND FANCIES

We're intent on fun from the tips of our saddle oxfords or fuzzy angora socks to our short bobs and stubby crew cuts. We're even mysterious. We have a lingo all our own which covers everything in our world from discs to dates. Our jeans, sweater scarves, and school caps may seem impractical, our diet of hamburgers, potato chips, and cokes may seem impossible, our ideas of fun may seem improbable, but we wouldn't be normal, healthy American kids minus our high school fads and fancies.

MISS NELL ADCOCK, Sponsor

Chosen not only for her countenance but also for the charm, poise and friendly manner which is always a part of her.

BILLY JO DICKENS, Halfback

A one hundred and forty-seven pound powerhouse with over forty touchdowns to his credit in a four year career—a sure, hard-hitting tackler and a flying left halfback.

September 15 opened the season with the Falcons meeting a strong eleven at Cary in a night game. A pass interception and a 50 yard run by Ronald Sherron set up a touchdown which was later made by Billy Joe Dickens. J. K. Sherron's safety helped to make the final score 21-0.

The following Friday found Angier here. Tomorrow's stars played in a one-sided game which ended in Fuquay's favor—37-6.

Apex was the next foe to yield to the claws of the Falcons. Billy Joe Dickens scored on the first play. The line played an outstanding defensive game by repeatedly holding the opposition when they were as near as the 2 yard line. The final score was 54-0.

The October 6 game with the Methodist Orphanage was the hardest fought but resulted in the happiest ending. David Smith on an end-around play with three minutes remaining scored the only touchdown which beat the opponents for the first time in the Falcon's history.

Then came Wakelon—the team which placed one above Fuquay in the state ratings. Defeat came to them also when Billy Joe Dickens ran 4 plays making 4 touchdowns. The triumphant score was 57-6.

The next week's game at Erwin turned out to be a thriller with Erwin tying the score in the last 8 seconds 19-19.

On November 3 the team played at Hillsboro and lost the game 20-6. The Falcons, inflicted with fumbleitis, finally reached the 3 yard line as the half was called. The lone touchdown came as a result of a 65 yard drive.

The next Friday Ayden, one of the finest Class A ball clubs in the state, played host to Fuquay. A touchdown by Ayden four minutes before the end of the game resulted in a 7-0 defeat. Using a 9 man line, Fuquay played one of its best defensive game.

On November 7 the homecoming game was celebrated with a battle with Selma preceded by a barbecue supper and a dance afterwards. Fuquay lost 12-7 to a powerful team averaging 185 pounds.

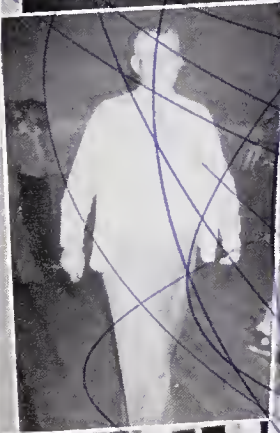

The championship game was played at Cary, Fuquay challenging Garner. Although handicapped by rain, Fuquay won by a last half comeback—14-7. In this meet Bobby Coats, formerly a right tackle, shifted to center in E. B. Walters absence and played an outstanding game.

The outstanding line men for the Falcons were David Smith, Bobby Coats, F. D. Ragan, E. B. Walters, Wallace Sherron, J. K. Sherron, Billy Myatt and Charles Garrison. Coach Council stated that this was one of the best lines he had ever had.

Outstanding backs were Billy Joe Dickens, Charles Wilson, Ronald Sherron, Tommy Keith, Maynard Lloyd, Brantley Adeock and Jerry Williams.

At the close of the season Charles Wilson, Wallace Sherron and David Smith were elected the Co-Captains of 1951 to fill the space vacated by J. K. Sherron, F. D. Ragan, Tommy Keith, and Billy Joe Dickens.

.... the cheerleaders lead with a yell the centers tip off again watch that basket!

Being a cheerleader can have its excitement and merriment as well as the just ordinary routine.

Remember the Garner-Fuquay football game at Cary, when everyone received a wonderful gift from above—rain! Comical Buddy Holland treacherously changed his school colors during that game. Red mud smeared on his spotless white trousers was the cause of the treason . . .

The football game at Ayden will linger for many a day in the minds of the cheerleaders, who yelled themselves hoarse for a hopeless fate—defeat by one point.

Can't you just picture Chief Cheerleader Clark slaving over her mile-around skirt for forty-five minutes before a game—to return home afterwards with it looking like a rag-mop? And those sweaters! They even gave little Jewel Davis the "Charles Atlas" look.

But with these fond memories of the brave little cheerleaders with their unlevel skirts, sloppy-joe sweaters, sore throats, and drenched bangs—we close the cheering year, 1951. Rah! Rah! Fuquay!

Just a minute

please - - - -

Well, it's all yours now—but before you close the book and write finis to another Greenbriar, there are a few services we would like to acknowledge.

First of all, to Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Judd we would like to express our sincerest appreciation for so willingly allowing us the freedom of their home and grounds to make our superlative pictures. Our thanks also to Grady's Restaurant which was used as a background in one of our pictures. Then, for giving us so much pleasure in permitting us the use of her old dresses and particularly those of the "flapper era" for some of our snapshots, we'd like to thank Mrs. James Judd, Sr.

Especially to all the teachers and our principal, Mr. J. G. Allen, do we want to pay tribute for being so patient and granting us leaves of absence when picture-taking and other work rushed us. In particular do we want to mention Miss Eleanor Southerland and Miss Lucy Perkinson's eagerness to do everything possible to lighten and simplify our load.

If you liked the sports snaps and the page depicting "A day in the life of a student at Fuquay" as much as we thought you would, give the credit to Charles Norris—he did a great job. Also helping to make our annual a success by posing for us was Tommy Keith, who is a "natural" in front of the camera.

Next, we feel that real appreciation is due Mr. Braxton Flye of the Graphic Press, Inc. and the photographers, Waller and Smith. Both firms did an outstanding job on our annual.

Of course, without the backing of the merchants of Fuquay-Varina and the surrounding area, our annual would be just an idea instead of a reality. Therefore, to them we add our vote of thanks and to you we ask a favor for ourselves and you—read the advertisements and patronize our ADVERTISERS.

Because we have waited until last to thank her is no indication that we are lacking in gratitude to Mrs. Paul Stack, our advisor, for indeed, we who have worked so closely with her well remember how she has given liberally her time and advice and has guided us through an unforgettable experience—that of compiling a yearbook.

Through the book our main thought has been to tie in the "little things" and the extras which we think will help you recall your days at Fuquay Springs High School when you flip back the pages ten years from now. If the memories come pleasantly and easily to you then, our undertaking will have been fully realized. Therefore, hoping that you have enjoyed recounting your experiences of the past school year through the 1951 edition of the Greenbriar, we of its staff keenly desire that it will remain a cherished possession of yours for many years!

Daphne, Ralph, Nancy and Sara

Is me you are the best looking girl in the senior class.
You are so going to the prom. I hope you straighten up if you last name is H. H. H.

Jean, you are a wonderful friend and a fine girl.
You are a very all around person.

Years, all these years in school with you have been wonderful.
We sure have had some good times together haven't we.
The best of luck to you and Stewart always. I'm still not sure about business school!!

Jan, all these years in school have been wonderful and I'll always remember this year especially with you and Jane. We have had so much fun and I think you are a wonderful sport. By the way I think you have a pretty red buss ha. Just because school is nearly out will not mean the end of our friendship. Best of luck to the sweetest and prettiest girl in our class. I hope you and Stewart have much happiness.

Jan
you're a cute girl and with your charm you are assured of success. Luck always.

Love Always,
Betty Lee

Jan I've really enjoyed having you as a classmate. Always be as sweet as you are now and I'm sure you'll succeed. I hope all the years that follow will be filled with happiness. Best wishes and lots of luck to a very dear friend. Love to Ezra Barton

Jan, here we are seniors. We have something special in common - our birthdays. He's hoping you have many more. I have enjoyed knowing you and being your classmate. Y.W.A's. and Sunday School will make me think of you, too. May you always have the best of everything good that life has to offer.

Love,

Emma Lou & herself

I can't know you hate to leave this school, and I hate to see you go. but I hope that you have many happy days in your year to come.
